“Languages meet sport – Festival for regional and minority languages” is a project supported by the European Commission and organized by the Leader Comunicare Interculture, in collaboration with ARLeF and the Regional School Bureau. The international meeting, which will give voice to many sports and different languages and show that linguistic and cultural diversity is one of the basic values of our common European citizenship, will take place in Udine on 19th and 20th October at the Centro Culturale delle Grazie (via Pracchiuso 21).

The unusual union among sport, culture and minority languages has aroused the interest of many schools in Udine, which are thrilled to take part to a festival which will bring to Udine a number of initiatives and experiences to promote, narrate and improve minority languages through sport.

The presentation press conference will be held on Wednesday 17th October at Udinese Calcio (11 am). The press conference will be attended by:

Franco Soldati, President Udinese Calcio

Ariella Cuk, project manager “Languages meet sport”

Mario Virgili, town councillor for sport activities - Provincia di Udine,

Kristian Franzil, town councillor for sport and minority languages - Comune di Udine,

Lorenzo Zanon, President of ARLeF,

Elio De Anna, town councillor for Culture, Sport, International and European relations
